Foreword

1964-1965 will be remembered as a very special year. It will be remembered for the first graduating class that has gone all the way through Greene Central. It will be remembered as the year in which Greene Central operated as a fully accredited member of the Southern Association of Secondary Schools. This year will be remembered for the countless associations—chiefly pleasant, a few unpleasant—which hereafter will be our most cherished memories.

Because of the importance of 1964-1965 in our lives, we, the CENTRALIS staff, humbly but proudly offer this pictorial story of Greene Central's finest year.

Dedication

This year, we, as members of the Centralis staff, would like to dedicate the Centralis to a man who is known and loved throughout Greene County.

He attended Duke University and later the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. He taught school in Princeton, Kenly, Goldsboro, and Robersonville. He taught many of our parents at Snow Hill High School.

He has devoted many years of his life to studying and many more years to teaching. He has helped many of us through our hardships and troubles. He has rejoiced with us at our good fortune. He is truly concerned about the welfare of every student with whom he comes in contact.

The members of the 1965 Centralis staff proudly dedicate the 1965 Centralis to Mr. Raymond E. Snipes.

Mr. Raymond E. Snipes works diligently each afternoon to prepare his lessons for the coming days.

Administration

ADMINISTRATION

Our Principal

With a solution for every problem, Robert E. Strother serves as the "backbone" of Greene Central. Through his four years as principal, he has performed his many duties in a manner that will long be remembered as the strength of our school.

Physics lab can become quite complicated as one begins to work with such difficult topics as electricity.

Physics problems often require a great deal of skill and concentration when one tries to solve them.

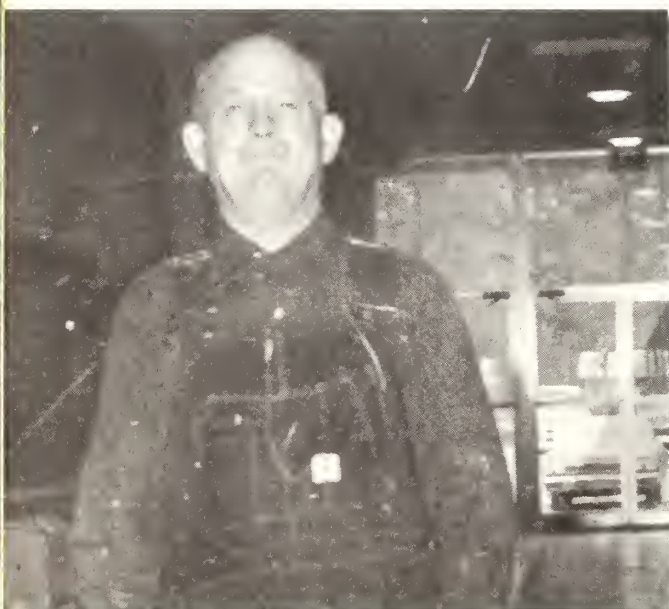

Personnel

These lunchroom workers, Mrs. Faye Moore, Mrs. Moore, Mrs. Shingleton, Mrs. Beaman, and Mrs. Vaughn, prepare our lunches each day.

Janie Williams and Frances Roundtree clean the lunchroom each day after the students finish lunch.

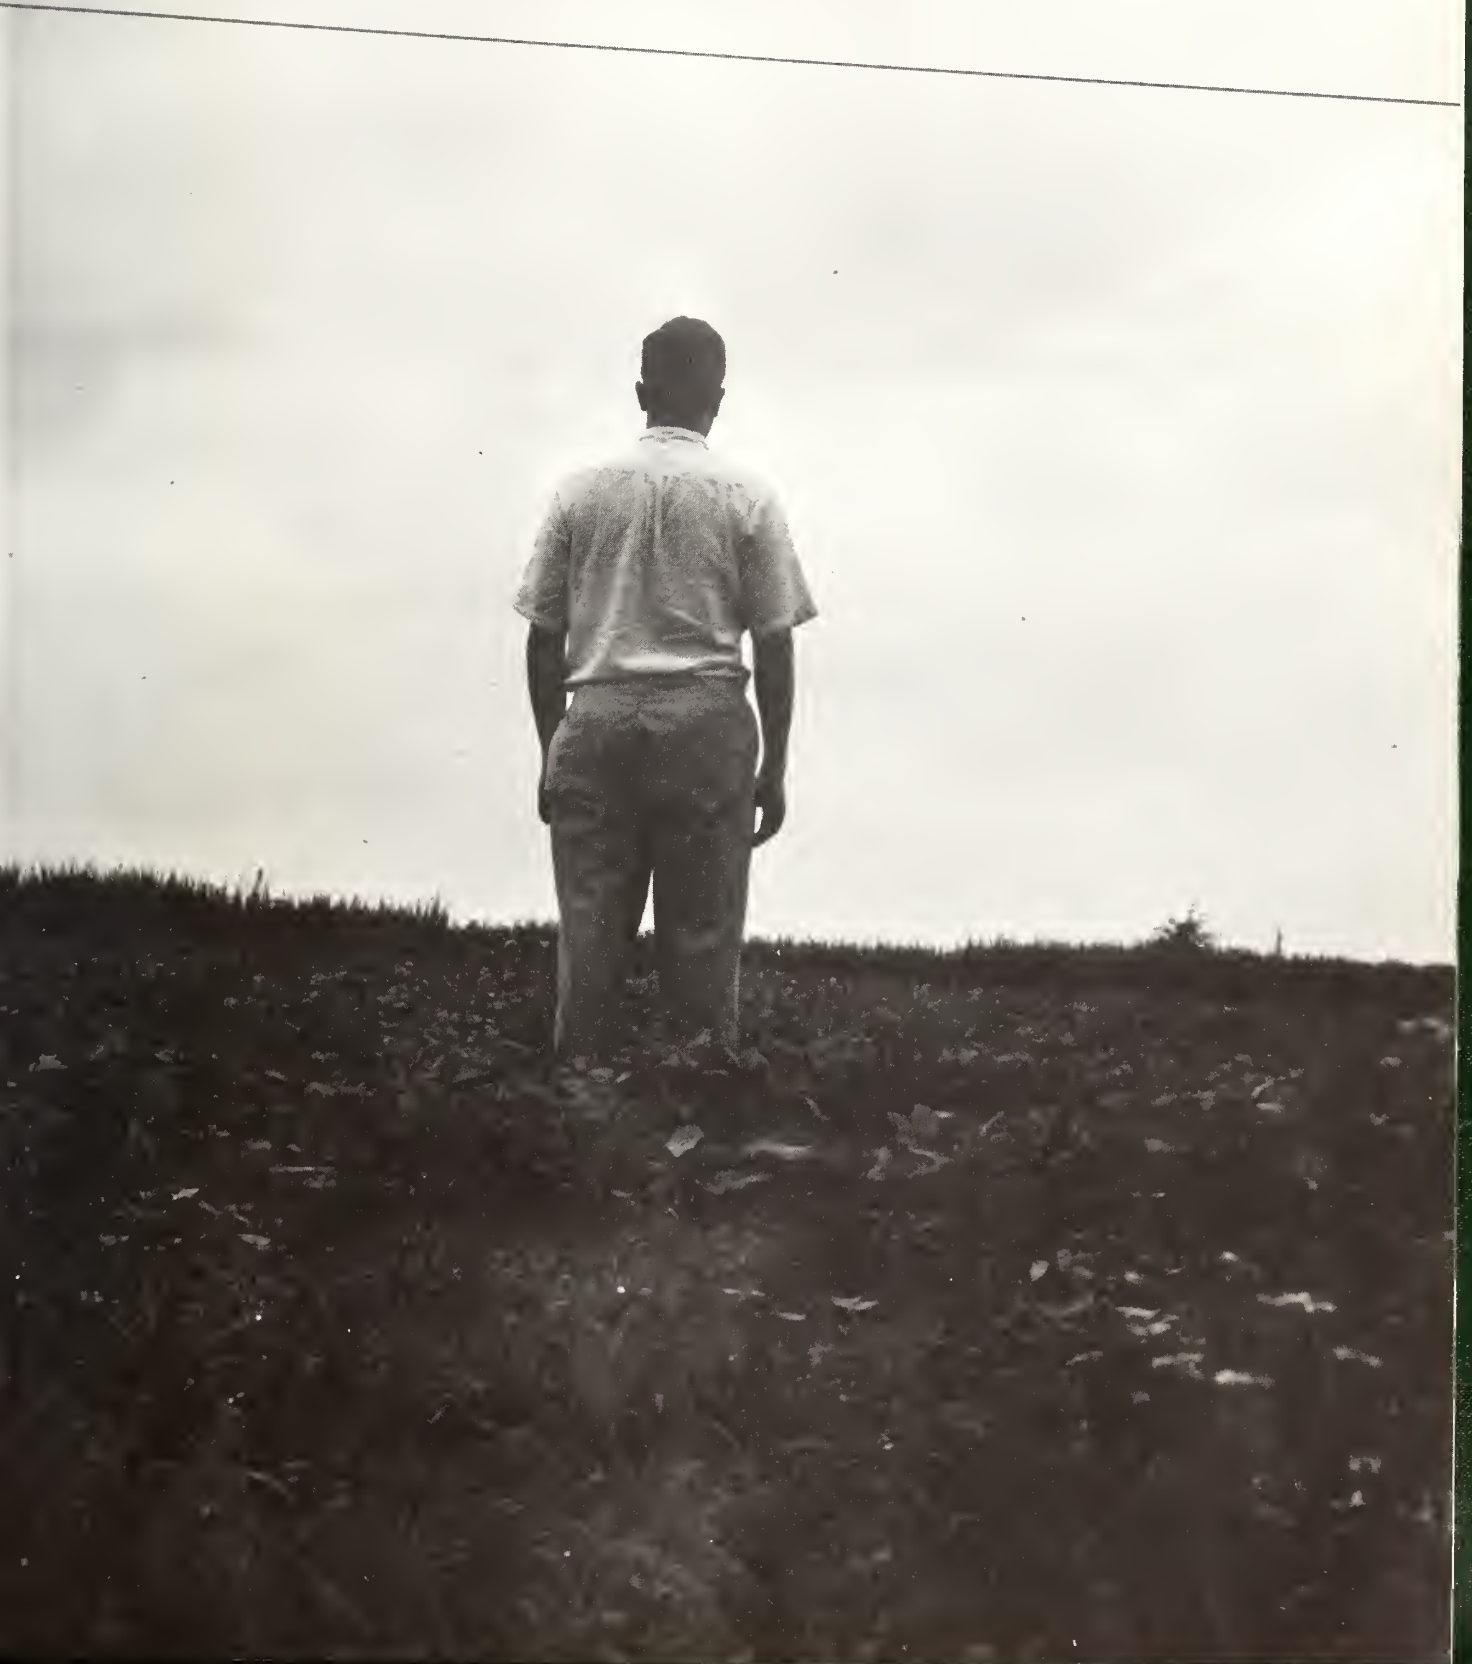

Mr. Raymond Vaughn, our faithful custodian, gives a final inspection of the building as the school day ends.

Mark Speight, school janitor, cleans the halls thoroughly after the students have traveled them to and from classes.

Student Life

Homecoming . . . '64-'65

Excitement fills the grandstands as G.C. fans await the outcome of another play during the homecoming game.

As Homecoming Queen, Greene Central student body chose Carol Forbes. She was selected by popular vote from a group of G.C. girls, each representing a school club. Johnny Ham was her escort.

"Go Rams!" Enthusiastic spectators, led by G.C. cheerleaders, cheer the Rams on to a Homecoming victory.

Paul Miller and Kaye Carter were chosen by popular vote of the staff to represent the CENTRALIS.

Mr. and Miss Centralis

Greene Central is certainly proud of the '65' Bel Air Chevrolet station wagon. The keys were presented to Mr. Strother by Mr. Woodrow Taylor of Taylor Chevrolet Co., Snow Hill.

Greene Central students are lucky, too! Tommy Worthington marvels at his success in winning a large amount of money through a contest he won.

Days at G.C. are Filled with Action

Greene Central was very proud to receive an accreditation from The Southern Accreditation Association. Steve L. Beaman and Judy Jones are shown as they receive the good news from Mr. Strother.

Pingpong seems to be a popular after-lunch activity for G.C. students.

The Industrial Arts boys are working on various projects. Throughout the year, they have made such things as cabinets, stereos, and lamps.

There is always vigorous participation of seniors in Senior Bowl, a contest of general knowledge. The game is played weekly during the government class.

A group of biology students study the various characteristics of a frog. This area seems to be one of the favorite ones in the course.

Mary Sue Britt and Francis Sugg, like many other Greene Central students, take home many books to prepare the next day's lessons.

Junior and Senior Prom

The juniors worked hard to make the Junior-Senior Prom the best one ever held at Greene Central. The theme was "Tea House Under an August Moon." The juniors created something of which they could really be proud.

Many hours of hard work were spent by the junior class and its sponsors in planning the Junior-Senior Prom.

Larry Barrow and Donna Sutton, chairmen of the Junior-Senior decoration committee, work diligently on decoration plans.

Waiters, Roland Ham and Robert Beaman; and waitresses, Janet Bowen and Linda Carraway, added nicely to the oriental banquet theme.

Refreshments were served in the cafeteria which depicted a tea house.

Finally the long awaited night arrived. What fun everyone had dancing to the music of the sensational "Playboys."

The seniors arrived at the banquet with great expectancy. Jimmy Barrow and his Guest seemed to be enjoying the prom.

Class Favorites

Penny Vause and Charles Miller were chosen by the freshman class as its favorite couple.

Linda Carraway and William Hughes were chosen as the favorites of the sophomore class.

Elvyn Seymour and Steve L. Beaman were considered the most popular couple in the junior class.

Activities

National Honor Society

National Honor Society President, Doug Davis, goes over some important business with the members of the club.

The National Honor Society is an organization of outstanding seniors. To be a member of the club, a senior must have an overall average of 92, and no subject average below 85. He must possess good character, leadership, and service. Each senior who is a member of the National Honor Society must contribute time for a project. The main project of the club this year was playing Christmas music the week before the Christmas holidays.

Beta Club

The purpose of the Beta Club is to promote the ideals of honesty, service, and leadership, and to give recognition to those who show these qualities. The main projects for this year were a bulletin board, gifts for needy families, and an assembly for the tapping of the new members.

Mary Holden Harrell and Francis Sugg collect the presents from underneath the G.C. Christmas tree. The presents were donated by the students for the welfare drive sponsored by the Beta Club.

Girls' State Representatives

Each year, two or three girls are selected from the junior class to attend Tar Heel Girls' State at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro. These girls are selected for their mental alertness, co-operativeness, honesty, dependability, leadership, and citizenship.

Susan Moore, Mary Wynn Seymour, and Toni Ridenhour reminisce about some of the pleasant happenings at Girls' State.

Morehead Scholarship

Nominee

DAR Award

National Merit Scholarship Semifinalist

Kaye Carter, Edward Harper, and Doug Davis, winners of the DAR Award, the National Merit Scholarship Semifinalist, and the Morehead Scholarship Nominee, respectively, study catalogues which help them to make plans for the future.

The DAR Award was given to a senior girl for her outstanding citizenship.

The National Merit Scholarship is based on a test which is administered by the guidance counselor. This test is given all over the United States.

The Morehead Scholarship by the Morehead Foundation is given to senior boys who meet the requirements. This scholarship is given each year, and entitles the recipient to four years' study at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

A great deal of discussion goes along with the successful yearbook.

Planning an annual takes many hours of hard work. Every member who is on the annual staff must do his share of work. Here a few members of the members are working on the final draft of the annual before the publication.

Centralis Staff

The CENTRALIS staff takes as its primary purpose to produce an annual of which the school can be proud.

Editor, Susan Moore, explains to Gail Beaman how the layout of a page should be drawn.

Marshals

The marshals are chosen each year from the members of the junior class who have an average of 90 or above. These students serve as ushers at all special events which occur during the year.

The new marshals are Jimmy Goff, chief; Danny Bowen, Donna Sutton, Francis Sugg, Susan Beaman, Billy James, Joel Harrison, Bobby Glossip, and Mary Harrell.

Journalism

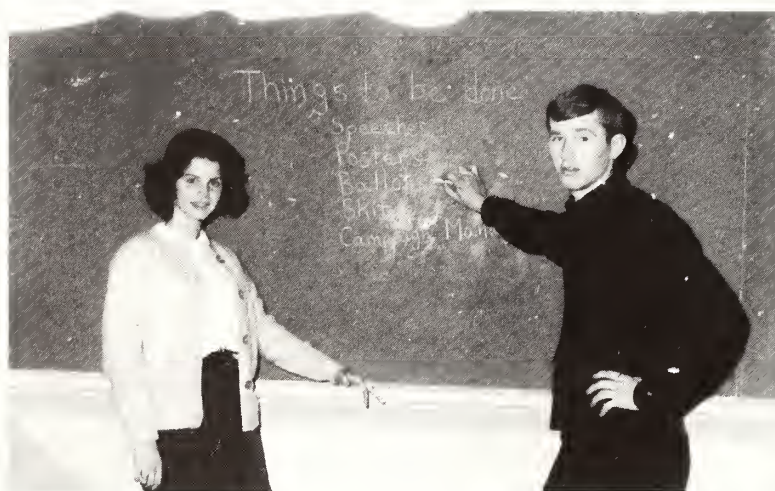

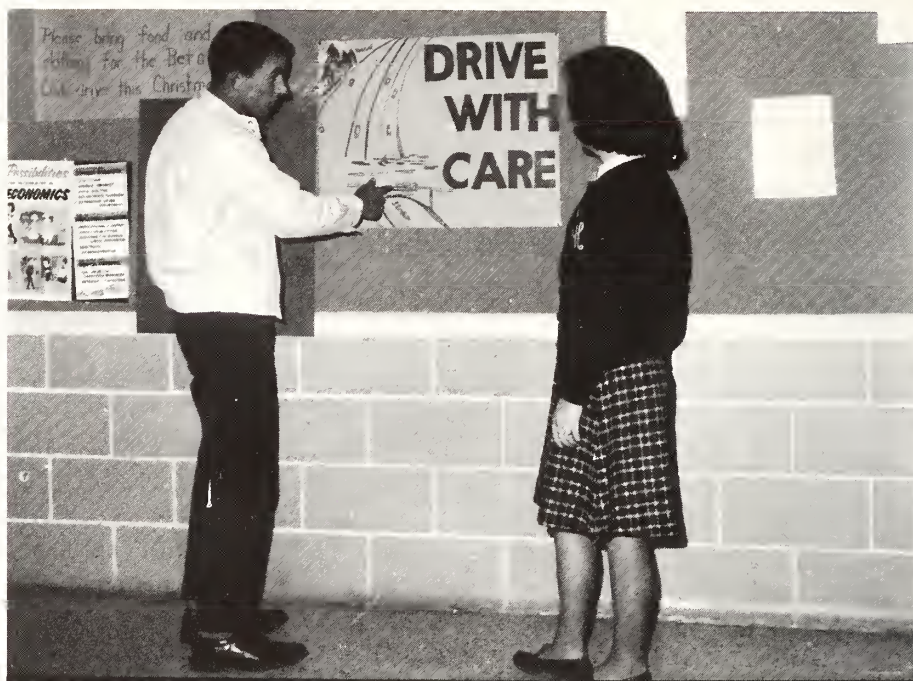

The journalism class was formed to publish a school paper. This paper, the RAMBLER, is published once during each grading period during the year. It covers all sports events and school news as they occur. It also includes the students' viewpoints on many topics.

Sandra Bundy and Kaye Carter, co-editors of the paper, have done an excellent job in covering the school. They have worked together to make the school paper interesting and attractive.

The journalism class meets each day during fifth period under the leadership of Mrs. Allen. Together, they work on the layout and construction of the paper.

Student Council

Steve Beaman, President of the Student Council, emphasizes the Council's highway safety campaign to Donna Hinson.

Tommy Rouse discusses some campaign suggestions with Penny Vause.

Encouragement of the qualities of leadership and building a better understanding of a democratic government are two important aims of the Student Council. The student also learns to work more closely with the administration and to determine and carry out the policy of the school.

This past year, the Student Council carried out four main projects. A safety project was conducted during the Christmas holidays. Various assembly programs were conducted and the election of student body officers and class officers was held. A needy child was also adopted by the Council.

Music — Dramatics Club

Steve Hardy, Trudy Britt, Jennifer Taylor, Simmy Hobbs and Nicky Sue Jenkins plan some of the scenery to be used in the play, "Annie Get Your Gun."

The main purpose of the Musa-Dramatics Club this year was to make possible the performance of the play, "Annie Get Your Gun." The club worked under the supervision of Miss Chalk and Mr. Ginn to create the beautiful scenery, music, and sound effects which played a big part in making the play a success.

Barbara Fridgen experiments in applying make-up to the star actress of the play, Donna Hinson.

Steve Beaman and David Cox work steadily to improve the sound effects as the play progresses.

FFA

The sponsors of the FFA, Mr. Nick Paul and Mr. Billy Revels, plan an outing of the club.

FFA president, Keith Radford, presides over a meeting of the officers of the club.

The Future Farmers of America was organized to develop agricultural leadership, cooperation, and citizenship. The purposes of the FFA range from the development of competent, aggressive, rural, and agricultural leadership, to the encouragement of improved thrift, scholarship, and organized rural recreational activities.

Team contests such as parliamentary procedure and land judging, individual forestry, and chapter contests in chapter safety and cooperative activities play an important roll in the club life.

For social enjoyment, the members engage in an FHA-FFA dance, a Father-Son Banquet, and FFA summer camp.

FBLA

The Future Business Leaders of America was formed to promote business-like leadership in its members. It encourages home and community improvement.

The FBLA members are active in many events which include the state convention which is held annually.

Connie Heath explains a point of business procedure to Ruby Nethercutt and Margaret Nethercutt.

Math and Science Club

The Math and Science Club, under the leadership of Mrs. Britt, provides the members with science and math projects and activities which are not included in the curriculum. The members are often given the opportunity to hear speakers who are outstanding in the fields of math and science.

The members are also given the opportunity to conduct experiments which help them to understand better certain problems in the field of science.

FTA

Many prospective teachers form the Future Teachers of America Club. The club guides interested students in making wise choices in view of their own abilities and personalities, as well as in view of opportunities offered by the teaching profession.

The responsibilities and rewards of teaching are brought out in the club programs.

As a club project, individuals serve as teachers' helpers here at Greene Central.

Mrs. Boyette, sponsor, helps Carol Forbes, Susan Beaman, Jeannie Ellis, Wanda Forest, Diane Wade, and Kaye Carter plan an FTA program.

French Club

The French Club, better known as "Le Cercle Francais," puts a strong emphasis on enlivening the study of French for the students. It provides opportunities for many enjoyable features of language study including French songs, games, dramatic skits, and slides.

The members also learn first-hand information by French pen-pal correspondence.

Buying audio-visual materials for the department is the main project of the club.

Monogram Club

Bob Lane, Judy Jones, and Larry Barrow make plans for one of the many activities of the Monogram Club.

The Monogram Club is composed of varsity and junior varsity athletes and cheerleaders. These members strive to bring about better unity among the student body and athletes.

The Monogram Club members provide sweaters for all rising senior athletes and cheerleaders. They also provide letters for the athletes participating in varsity sports.

Annually, the members of the club have an Athletic Banquet, at which the athletes are recognized.

Library Club

The Library Club is composed mainly of library assistants. These students play an important part in the maintenance of our library.

Mrs. Tyndall and members of the Library Club assist students in using library facilities each day.

Arts and Crafts

The Arts and Crafts Club, under the supervision of Mr. Keeter, learns to work with their hands in making things with wood, leather, and other materials. By working with their hands, these students hope to develop hobbies, stimulate school interest, find valuable leisure time activity, and have experience in as many fields as possible.

Audio Visual

The purpose of the Audio-Visual Club is to train students interested in operating audio-visual equipment at Greene Central.

Donnie Goff demonstrates the operation of audio-visual equipment as David Cox, Fred Newcomb, Danny Bowen, David Moore, Wayne Beaman, and other club members observe.

Interact Club

Clifton Thomas, as president of Interact Club, presents the group's constitution and by-laws to the membership.

The Interact Club, sponsored by Mr. James McLawhorn, is promoted by the Snow Hill Rotary Club. Several objectives are: to recognize leadership, to encourage international understanding, to respect the rights of others, and to use one's occupation to serve society.

The Club participates in two service projects each year.

Current Events

We live in a constantly changing world, and the Current Events Club is designed to further awareness of these changes. It stresses to its members their important roles in the course of events.

One of the main projects of the club was to sponsor a World Peace Speaking Contest. This contest was to give some lucky student from Greene Central an all-expense-paid trip to New York, the U.N., and the World's Fair, and Washington, D.C. Greene Central hopes to make this an annual event.

"New York, here I come!" Kay Taylor might have been heard saying this when she found out that she won the World Peace Speaking Contest. The Contest was sponsored by the Current Events Club.

Bus Drivers

The bus drivers of Greene Central High School are a group of students who are appointed on the basis of written examinations and driving tests given by a state bus license examiner. These students are expected to care for all the students which they transport to and from school.

These outstanding students have accepted the responsibility to watch out for the welfare of each student who rides on his bus.

FHA

To build better future homemakers is the aim of the Future Homemakers of America. Two of the many worthwhile purposes of the club are to work for good home and family life for all, and to further the interest in home economics.

Striving to be both a helpful and fun-filled club, many projects and events are planned. Some of the projects and events are the county fair exhibit, food baskets for a needy family, Christmas cards for elderly people, and a yard beautification project. An FHA-FFA dance, the Mother-Daughter Banquet, Bi-County, District, and State rallies, and FHA summer camp also provide social enjoyment for the members.

Peggy Moore, Secretary, takes notes as the other members of the Executive Council plan for daily devotion.

The members of the FHA prepare Christmas cards to send to elderly people.

Glee Club

The Greene Central Glee Club has made several accomplishments of which it can be proud. It received an excellent rating at a choral contest at East Carolina College. It has participated in several concerts during the year.

The officers of the Glee Club are Audrey Windham, president; Judy Jones, secretary-treasurer; and Kay Nethercutt, vice-president.

The Greene Central band, under the direction of Mr. Kenneth Ginn, performs at many school functions.

Band

Only through practice can the band achieve perfection.

The Greene Central band also participates in many parades.

The majorettes are an important part of the band. They appear together with the band as well as separately. These girls add beauty and rhythm through their well-planned routines.

The senior majorettes are Jennifer Taylor, chief; Linda Carraway, Maritta Davis, Cheryl Mozingo, Gail Strother, Donna Hinson, Carol Croom.

Majorettes

The junior majorettes are Connie Sue Barfield, chief; Brenda Jo Arthur, Emily Harrison, Peggy Baker, Mary Lou Dickens, and Mary Rose Aiken.

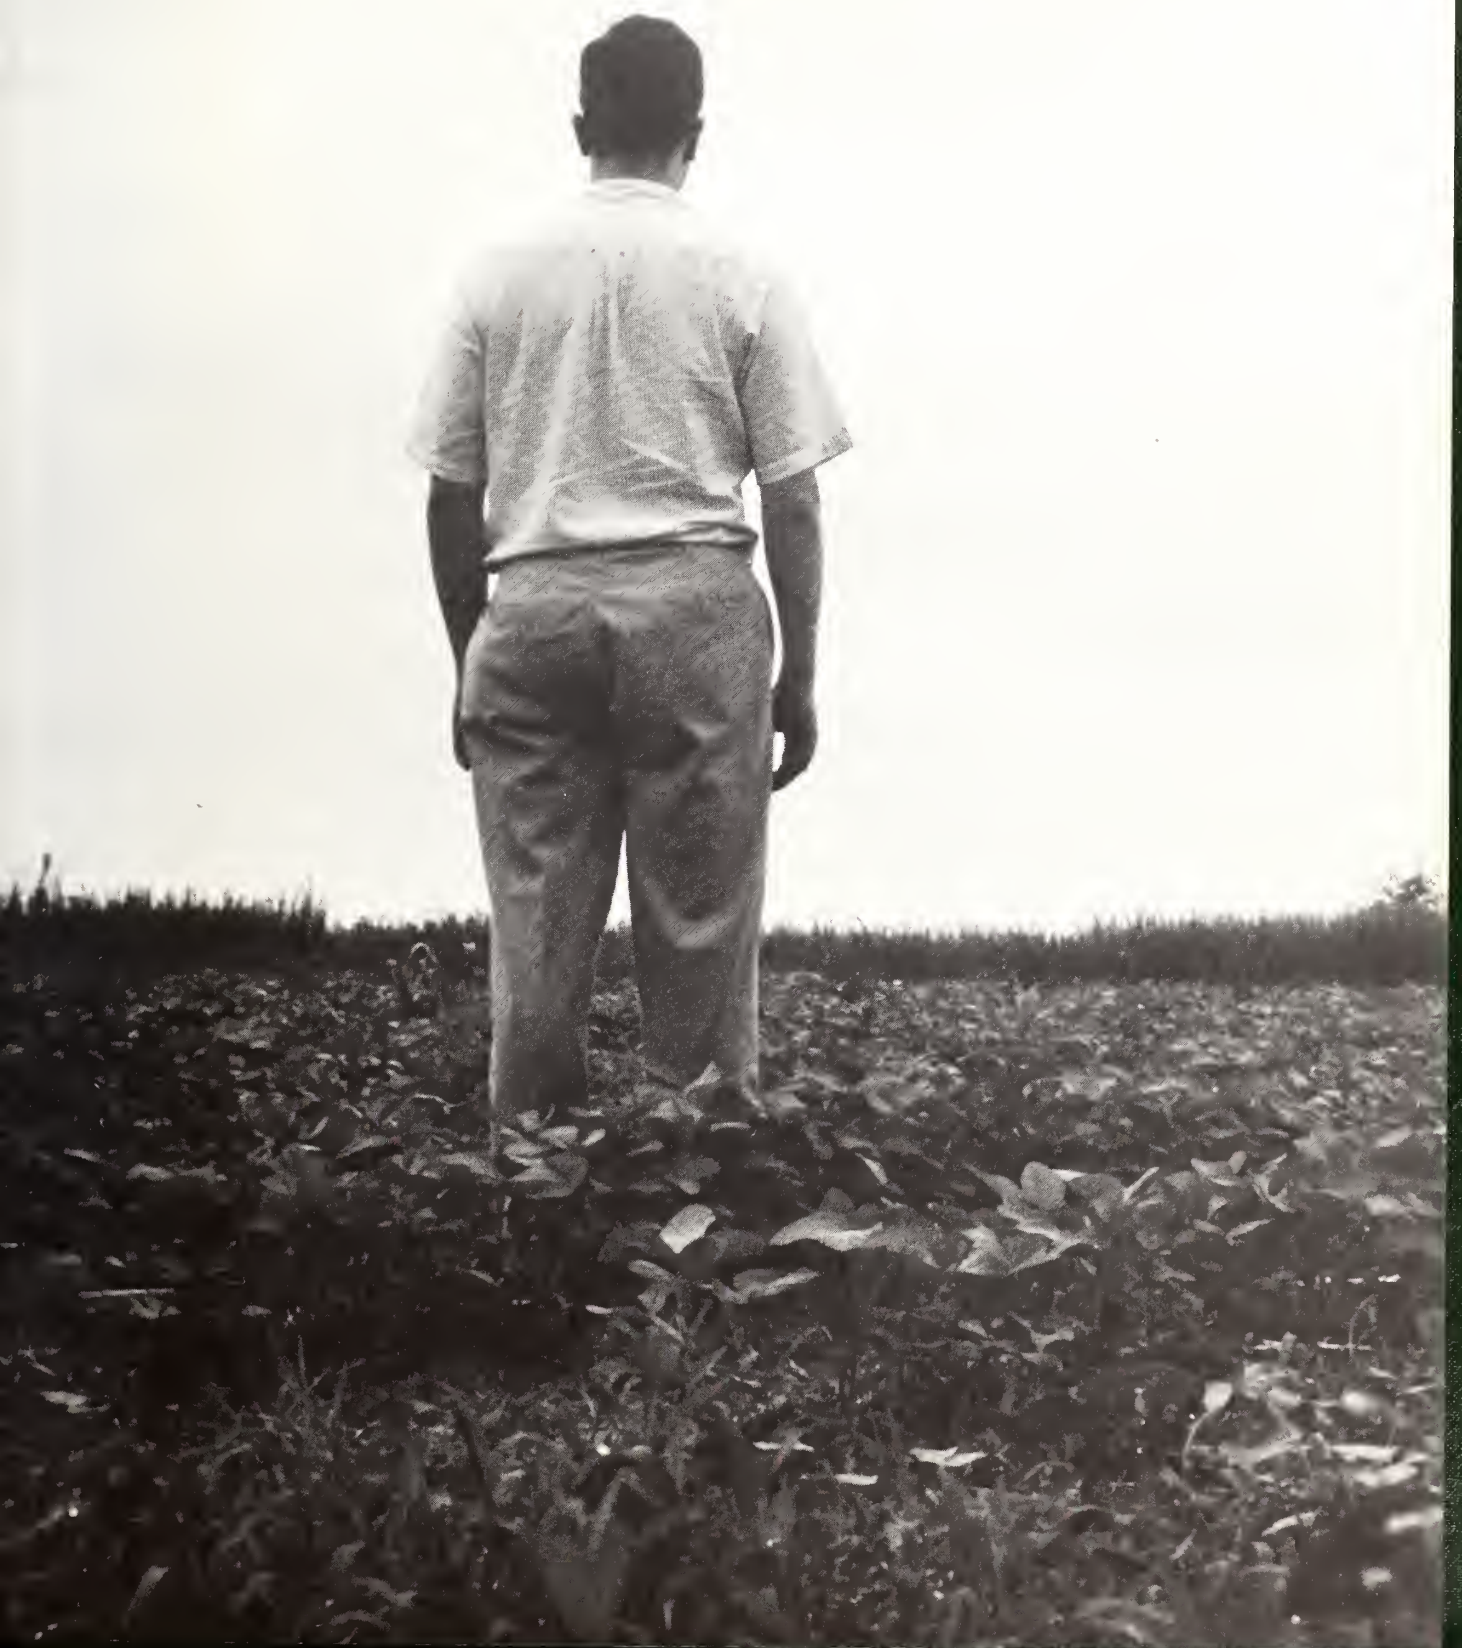

Jennifer Taylor, head, leads the majorettes as they march in the homecoming parade.

The majorettes perform one of their original routines.

Sports

Football

Every Greene Central game is filled with action, whether we win or lose. Our record has improved very much since last year. We have won several games. We all hope that during the next season we will be able to win all of our games.

Outstanding Seniors

The ten students who are pictured on the following three pages have been chosen by their senior classmates as the top ten students in the senior class. They were chosen by popular vote for their outstanding achievements during their four years at Greene Central.

Elisabeth Smith, class president, is also a very active member of the student council. Possessing a great amount of school spirit, she is a member of the cheerleading squad.

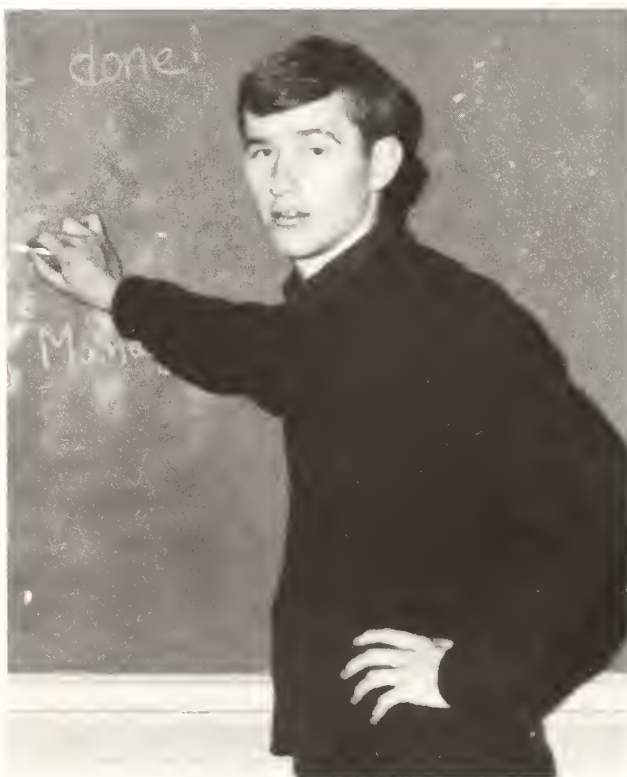

Paul Miller, one of Greene Central's outstanding football players, is also very active in the band and its activities. In past years, he has served on the student council.

During her senior year, Kaye Carter was awarded the DAR Citizenship Award. She has an outstanding scholastic record and is an active member of the journalism staff.

Edward Carraway is a "jack-of-all-trades" when it comes to sports. He is very active in baseball, football, and is a star basketball player. He has won much fame for himself and for Greene Central. He has received many awards and honors for his athletic ability. He has also served on the student council.

As a guard on the Rams' basketball team, Tommy Rouse has been an outstanding player. He has also served in past years on the student council and has served as president of the student council. He served as vice-president of the senior class.

What would Greene Central do without Press Pate? He seems to be the manager of almost everything. He certainly does a good job when the players need him.

As vice-president of the student body, Audrey Windham has done an outstanding job in her presentation of devotions for assemblies. She also did a very good job in the musical, "Annie Get Your Gun."

Mary Wynne Seymour's musical talent has been a great asset to the Varsity Singers, and to the production of "Mr. Crane of Sleepy Hollow." Not only is she a member of the student Council, but she is also an outstanding basketball player and student.

Basketball, Football, and baseball are all a part of Dana Dickens' extra-curricular activities. He is especially an outstanding basketball player.

Serving as chief cheerleader, Jeanette Baker did much to arouse school spirit during basketball and football season. She is a leading soprano in the Varsity Singers, a member of the student council, and secretary of the senior class.

Baccalaureate

At last the great moment has arrived! The graduation ceremonies have begun. The seniors march in for the baccalaureate sermon.

The Varsity Singers, under the direction of Mr. Ginn, express the emotions of the great event through music.

These serious seniors can hardly believe that at last the time has arrived for them to leave high school.

Graduation

Mr. Strother, principal, presents Edward Harper, salutatorian, with his award.

Edward Harper gave a speech which will linger for many years in the minds of those who graduated in the Class of 1965.

Ann Moore, Rev. Fitzgerald, Mr. Strother, Rev. Earnhart, Miss Thompson, and Mr. Welfare held a memorable part of the graduation exercises.

Mr. Strother, principal, presents Ann Moore, valedictorian, with her award.

Ann's speech helped the graduating class to look into the past and toward the future.

Now that graduation is over and diplomas have been received, the seniors head towards the future and into a new horizon of learning.
